

ONE PUBLIC RECORD INDICATES ALIEN ENEMIES OWN PUCK

How New Motor Ship Secured American Registration Causes Much Speculation

DOELVERS-KNAACK WERE OWNERS AT INCORPORATION

Hilo Tribune Reports Vessel Disappeared For Three Days After Sighted Off Kona Coast

Because it is generally assumed that Dietrich Doelvers and H. Knaack, alien enemies, are the principal owners of the South Kona Firewood and Shipping Company which operates the new motor ship Puck, there is much speculation among Honolulu shipping men as to how she was placed under American registry, as the federal regulations require that the controlling interest in an American vessel shall be owned by citizens of the United States.

The assumption that the two alien enemies are the controlling owners of the motor ship is based on the only public record available, the petition for the incorporation of the company filed with the territorial treasurer.

According to E. H. Low, who made an investigation of the ownership and operation of the motor ship Puck for a report which he submitted to the Hawaii Vigilance Corps, the incorporation papers show the officers and the distribution of shares as follows:

Marston Campbell, president, two shares; Henry Knaack, secretary and treasurer, 342 shares; C. E. Al, director, two shares; Dietrich Doelvers, director, 342 shares; and E. C. Pohlman, director, sixty-six shares.

Marston Campbell, president, two shares; Henry Knaack, secretary and treasurer, 342 shares; C. E. Al, director, two shares; Dietrich Doelvers, director, 342 shares; and E. C. Pohlman, director, sixty-six shares.

But if Knaack and Doelvers still retain their original holdings in the company, they would own 684 shares, which would be more than enough to control the company. There may also have been other transfers of stock, of which there is now no public record, and which will not be known until an annual report is filed.

When the Puck was registered at the Honolulu customs house Marston Campbell took the ownership oath. Did Puck Disappear?

From Hilo comes an intimation that the Puck on her maiden voyage to Kona disappeared three weeks ago Saturday until the following Tuesday, after she was sighted off the Kona coast by the steamer Kilaua, apparently headed for Honolulu. This report, which was printed in the Hilo Tribune last Wednesday, was as follows:

"First sight of the power schooner Puck, a vessel of more noteworthy than beauty, was reported yesterday almost simultaneously in Hilo and Honolulu. The Puck anchored yesterday morning at Alikia, an isolated point on the Kona coast, not far from Hoopulu, and was still there last night.

"But that isn't where the Puck was first sighted. When the Inter-Island steamer Kilaua was making for Hilo, last Saturday, the Puck was seen apparently proceeding in the direction of Honolulu.

"Word to that effect was carried to Honolulu by the Kilaua, which arrived there today. Inquiries by wireless immediately followed. In the meantime the Kilaua's mate had dropped the news at Hilo, and investigation brought word on the long distance telephone that the Puck had anchored yesterday morning at Alikia, and was still there, presumably taking on firewood.

"Where she was bound when seen by the Kilaua Saturday, headed in the direction of Honolulu, and what she did with her time between then and Tuesday morning are questions that remain to be answered.

WAR'S ANNIVERSARY DULY OBSERVED

Ceremonies Contain Much of Solemnity and Rouse Patriotism of All

(From Sunday Advertiser.)

All Honolulu observed the first anniversary of the entry of the United States in the world war by a great gathering at Bishop Park, where, at ten o'clock, all heads were bared, and every man, woman and child stood and remained silent as the national anthem was played by the Hawaiian Band.

The circumstances surrounding the vessel's departure caused such protest in Honolulu that new regulations for the clearance of all vessels, sampans included, were issued shortly after.

"Presumably the Puck is in the firewood trade. She carried a crew of Japanese, who might be useful as wood cutters, but her officers were chiefly German-Americans. Thirty mattresses and a quantity of provisions were taken on board at Honolulu."

JAPANESE HELP FOR FAIR IS ASSURED

President of Japanese Chamber of Commerce Will Head Special Committee

K. Yamamoto, president of the Japanese chamber of commerce, has been appointed chairman of a special committee on Japanese participation at the Territorial Fair. This committee will arrange for special Japanese features and attractions, and for exhibits by Japanese individuals, business firms and organizations in the different shows.

Under this arrangement representative Japanese will serve on practically all the regular committee and assume an active responsibility for the Fair's success.

Mr. Yamamoto probably will be asked to serve on the commercial committee and have the duty of arousing the interest of Japanese merchants and making arrangements for their mercantile exhibits. Other members of the special Japanese committee will be named Monday or Tuesday.

Some of the most attractive and interesting features of the Hawaii County Fair at Hilo were contributed by the Japanese of the Big Island. Under Mr. Yamamoto's capable direction it is believed the firms and individuals of that race will present some remarkable exhibits at coming Fair.

A member will be appointed to each of the following standing committees: Fish, Agriculture, Food Conservation, Poultry, Dogs, Arts and Crafts, Commerce and Manufactured Products, Flowers and Plants, and Athletic. Doer Katsunori is president of a member of the Livestock committee, and editor of each Japanese newspaper is a member of the Fair's publicity committee.

DUKE WOULD SERVE WITH FLYING CORPS

Champion Swimmer Not Likely To Be Called In Draft But Wants To Serve Country

Duke Kahanamoku is anxious to join Uncle Sam's flying corps in France. Duke is to leave next week for a six weeks' visit to the Coast, where he will complete in several swimming meets to be staged there. Duke, who is the sole support of his mother and sister, his father, Captain Kahanamoku, having died a few months ago, is rated in the draft as Class No. 3.

"It will be a long time before I am called," said Duke yesterday. "But I am anxious to get started in the aviation corps as soon as possible. This branch of army service I have always been very keen to get into and when I arrive on the mainland I am going to see if there is any possibility of landing in the aero corps there."

The champion swimmer of the world has been instructing Major Harold Clark, the army aviator, in the art of surfboard riding during the past few weeks. Duke says that Major Clark has almost mastered this thrilling sport.

YOUNG AUTO THIEF IS IN REFORM SCHOOL

Yamamoto, a fifteen-year-old Japanese boy, was arrested with several other Japanese, for the wholesale stealing of automobiles in the city, was indicted for malicious conversion by the grand jury and subsequently discharged by order of Judge Heon yesterday.

The boy was then committed to the Reform School until he attains his majority.

Yamamoto's accomplices were members of an organized band of auto thieves who had been operating on the island for more than a year. Through the clever work of Officer William Perry, who had worked on the case for some months, the gang was run to earth and all placed under arrest. A shack in Moiliili, camouflaged as a garage, various parts of sixteen automobiles were recovered. The principal in this case will be tried in the circuit court shortly.

RODGERS' SENATORS NORMAN ROSS STILL DEFEAT THE TIGERS

Oaks and Seals and Bees and Angels Split Honors in Double-Headers

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Oakland	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Los Angeles	7	5	3	.714
Vernon	6	3	3	.500
Sacramento	6	3	3	.500
Salt Lake	3	3	3	.500
San Francisco	2	3	3	.386

Oakland closed yesterday the first week of the season at the head of the Pacific Coast League club, with Los Angeles in second place. Vernon and Sacramento are tied for third place, while Salt Lake comes next, with San Francisco in the cellar.

There will be no games played today, his being travel day among the league teams. For the week beginning tomorrow and closing next Sunday San Francisco will play the Senators at Los Angeles; Salt Lake the Oaks in Oakland, and Vernon the Angels at Los Angeles.

The close of the first week of the season saw two double-headers and a single staged.

In a close game at Sacramento the Senators, who were the victors in all three games, defeated the Tigers of the close score of two to one. For some reason or other, only one game was played between these two teams yesterday. The Senators and Tigers broke even in the first week's games, each taking and dropping three battles.

Playing at San Francisco, the Oaks and Seals broke even yesterday, Oakland winning the morning game and San Francisco the afternoon contest. The Oaks took their game by the score of six to four, while San Francisco won the tally of five to four. Both contests were close ones. The two teams played the full quota of games during the week, seven. Oakland got away with five of them, leaving the remaining two to go to San Francisco.

The games played at Los Angeles between the Killifer Angels and the Seals resulted in a substantial loss for each team. They were, at best, one-sided affairs, remarkable only for the big score piled up by the winning team in each battle. Los Angeles won the morning game from Salt Lake by the score of fourteen to nothing, while the Seals returned the compliment in the afternoon battle, winning by the tally of nine to zero. The Seals and Angels split almost even in the week's games, they staging seven of these. Los Angeles took four and Salt Lake 3.

The following depe on the teams, written shortly before the season opened, will give local fans additional light on Pacific Coast League matters. It is from the pen of Ed R. Hughes in the San Francisco Chronicle of March 24.

While the new owners of the Seals were wiggling each other over wide expanses of California soil, to find out whether or not it would be good building ground, Tom Seaton, a pitcher, a weakened pitching staff, Red Killifer, a right hander, and Manager Mitchell of the Cubs and got Long Tom. Now Seaton would much rather pitch in San Francisco than in Los Angeles. This is no hearsay, but Tom's own language, or he is right here, and has said so in open meeting, but Tom will pitch for Los Angeles rather than lose a chance to play on the Coast. He does not want to play for Chicago any more, and as Manager Mitchell feels, the same way about it there is no chance of an argument. Tom can still pitch in San Francisco, and he should help to help the Angels this year. He could have won some games for the Seals, too, but Graham and company will have to seek elsewhere for a pitcher.

Bill Lane, president of the Salt Lake club, is one of those rare birds who has not lost his interest in baseball. He is not in the business to make money on the contrary, it will cost him a lot to be president of the Saints—but he is a baseball fan, and if Walt McCredie should pilot the Saints to a pennant this year, Billy would be willing to fold his hands across his chest and die happy. There used to be a lot of fellows like Billy in the old days, but they are getting rare now, like white blackbirds, and men who invest money in baseball do so as a business and want dividends. Billy never thinks of dividends. What he wants is a winner, and if he could stick around Salt Lake this year and be president of a ball club that won the pennant in the Coast League, he would pin an iron cross on the broad chest of Walt McCredie and buy the cross himself. It is great when a man can keep his enthusiasm as long as Billy has.

Swims 500-Yard In 5:53.1-5; Olga Dorfner Wins Hundred In 1:09.1-5

CHICAGO, April 6.—(Associated Press)—Norman Ross, in an exhibition swim here last night, swam the 500-yard distance in 5:53.1-5.

The A. A. U. records for this distance are:

Open water (100), four turns—6:11.2-5, held by Ludy Langer, who swam them under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club in Honolulu Harbor, September 2, 1916, and yesterday closed his three months of training at the Second Officers' Training Camp at Schofield Barracks.

Bath (75), six turns—6:13.4-5, Ludy Langer, Sutter Baths, San Francisco, July 17, 1915.

In the 100-yard National A. A. U. championship, for women, Olga Dorfner finished first; time, 1:09.1-5.

THEY'RE ALL AFTER DUKE KAHANAMOKU

Mainland Aquatic Stars Lined Up In Effort To Beat Hawaiian Marvel

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—When the Senior A. A. U. national 100-yard swimming championship is held at Neptune Beach on April 28, one of the big drawing cards of the aquatic season is going to be staged. Attention will be attracted to the number, not only on the Coast, but in the East as well.

Word has come from Honolulu that Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian champion, is practically sure to be present as a contender.

Perry McGilvray of the Illinois A. C. will be on hand to make Kahanamoku extend himself. The Duke established the present world's record of fifty-three seconds at Honolulu last year, and the Chicagoan, who is some record-holder himself, is out for blood.

Buddy Wallace and Herman Laubis of the Illinois A. C. will accompany the Chicagoan, the Los Angeles star, is in this vicinity waiting for the big meet.

George Schroth of the Riverside Club of Sacramento is expected to be on hand.

Norman Ross, the American champion, will be ready for the starter's gun if Uncle Sam will grant him a furlough. Ross went to Honolulu last September to beat the Duke, but did not meet with success. The coming meet will afford Ross a chance for a come-back.

Entries close Wednesday, March 27, 1918, for the Junior 100-yard championship of the Pacific Association A. A. U. to be held at Neptune Beach, March 31, 1918.

Entry blanks for the national 100-yard senior swimming and junior diving championships, held under the auspices of the Neptune Swimming Club of Alameda, California, can be obtained from Robert W. Dodd, 1058 Phelan building, San Francisco.

The date of the junior diving championship has been set for April 14, entries closing April 6. April 20 is the closing date for the senior 100-yard dash.

SHOTGUN FALLS DOWN AND WOMAN WOUNDED

Wife of Head Luna At Hilea Loses Her Left Arm

News reached Honolulu yesterday that Mrs. Leon de la Nux, wife of the head luna at Hilea, Kau, Hawaii, had had the misfortune to lose her left arm through the accidental discharge of a shotgun last Monday.

According to the meagre details, Mrs. de la Nux was engaged in directing a Japanese man-servant in the yard of her Hawaii home when the gun, which was leaning against a tree, fell and was discharged, the shot shattering her left arm at the elbow.

The wound was so bad that the physicians called to attend her decided to amputate the arm immediately.

Friends of Mrs. de la Nux have written to others here, where she has many acquaintances made during her former long residence in Honolulu, that she was accepted her misfortune philosophically.

Her only expressed regret, it is said, was that her output of Red Cross work, in which she has been taking an active leadership in Kau, would be materially reduced hereafter, through the loss of her arm.
